

YWCA Sponsors Bond Bazaar; Campus Groups Act As Barkers

A huge Bond Bazaar sponsored by the YWCA will be a different and yet attractive Hallowe'en entertainment on campus this year. In the form of a county fair, it will be held in the Sunken Garden. Every club, organization, and dorm of the College will have a gaily decorated booth, and games of chance, with prizes, will be played at the cost of a defense stamp. Many surprises are in store at this gala occasion. Members of Scarab Club will draw sketches of people who attend, and refreshments and other fun will be had while everyone is buying war stamps and being patriotic at the same time. All students, chaplains, A.S.T.U. cadets, and townspeople are invited. These plans for Hallowe'en eve were proposed by Marian Ross at the YWCA meeting in Washington 200 last Thursday night. Jane Saltzman, Publicity Chairman, organized the various bazaar committees, with Winifred Gill as co-worker, and urged everyone to take interest in this event which is now underway.

As the members walked into the meeting they were greeted by colored pictures of two smiling little sisters, Tuberculosis seals, and a Bond Bazaar booth drawn on the blackboard. Group singing was led by Marian Ross, the president, while the girls assembled.

Edith Burkard, leader of Devotionals, announced that the YWCA would have its first Chapel service at 10 A. M. Thanksgiving day. At that time, baskets of staple foods and fruits, contributed by students, will be distributed to families in Williamsburg who are in need.

Betty Jean Grant, Chandler 300, Jean McCreight, Barrett 230, and Harriet Hochstrasser, 227 Jefferson, were appointed by Barbara Gray, treasurer, to collect dues of 25 cents a semester from members in their respective dorms.

At the close of the meeting, the president announced that the regular "Y" meetings will be held the first Thursday in each month.

Reporter Finds Origin Of Flat Hat; Name Has Historical Background

By CONNIE CONWAY

You hear it hundreds of times during the day; you see it in every dorm; you read it on Tuesday nights, and you talk about it, but have you ever stopped to think just how and where the FLAT HAT got its name?—Why wasn't it the Squashed Cap, or the Mash-ed Derby, or the Frowsy Tricorn? We asked the Editors and they didn't know, and two to one, if we asked you, you wouldn't know, either.

In a double-locked vault in the cellar of the Library, with thousands of other rare and valuable documents, lies every FLAT HAT from Volume I, Number 1, to last week's issue. It is from the first editorial in the first FLAT HAT and from Dr. Swem, that we have most of our information concerning the baptism of our little journal.

Back in 1750, before the United States were born, the Flat Hat Club was founded in the College. It received its name from the mortar boards the Seniors wear at graduation—after all, what are they but flat hats? This fact refutes the popular idea that the name is a typographical error for Fat Heads—or something.

The club was purely social in character, but its collection of difficult technical books showed that the "light reading" of its members was pretty substantial. Many seem to think that the Flat Hat Club led directly to the founding of Phi Beta Kappa in 1775.

Thomas Jefferson, St. George Tucker, George Wythe, Robert Baylor, Jr., and Edmund Randolph were among the first wearers of the official Flat Hat badge. Unfortunately, despite its illustrious members, the original club did not survive.

However, when the first staff was faced with the problem of christening its brain-child, they thought it only fitting to adopt the name of the club with its maxim, "Stabilitas et Fides."—Thus we derive our being, and inherit a very honorable name and motto.

The Gamma Kappa Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma announces with pleasure the initiation of Dolores Hampton, Rahway, N. J.; Frances Buttler, Alexandria, Va.; and Jacqueline Adams, Winnetka, Ill., on October 21 and 22.

The Thetas entertained a group of alumni last Tuesday night, October 12, for after dinner coffee. The guests were Mrs. Runnels, Miss Emily Hall, Mrs. Swan, Mrs. Washington, Mrs. Metzenthin, and Mrs. Jane Prout, who are all residing in Williamsburg at the present time.

Phi Mu's honored their new housemother, Mrs. Fleetwood, with a tea last Friday afternoon, October 15. Miss Thelma Brown, alumna adviser, acted as hostess. The Phi Mu's have welcomed to their chapter a transfer, Miss Gunesh Guran, formerly of Turkey. She is an accomplished linguist who speaks six different languages and has traveled extensively in Europe.

Deedee Armor Names Echo Staff Assistants

Deedee Armor, editor of the Colonial Echo, has announced the following as her staff assistants for the '43-'44 publication: Becky Ramsey, associate editor; Gwen Kehl, activities editor; Marian Lang, makeup editor; and Joan Parker, class editor. Virginia Lee and Linwood Aaron, A.S., U.S.N.R., will act as photographers. Aiding Winnie Gill, the business manager, are Norma Bradshaw and Frances Smith, who will assist in photography.

Although these appointments have not been approved by the Publications Committee, the staff has begun its plans and is working every Tuesday night in the Colonial Echo office.

Coeds Entertain Chaplains At Reception In Phi Beta

Function Given By WAM Corps

Dancing, to the tune of a victrola and an amplifier, was the main feature of entertainment at the WAM-sponsored reception for the Chaplains in Phi Beta Kappa Hall last Friday night.

Since fewer chaplains than were expected attended the reception, the dancing was organized so that the girls did the breaking. Those who didn't dance figured out some scrambled words, conversed, or partook of the refreshments of punch and cookies. This first social function of the school year for the Chaplains was given by the WAM Corps, and junior and senior girls were invited to be present.

The Dodge Room was decorated according to the season, and followed the autumnal theme with bright colored leaves and sprays of foliage attractively arranged on the punch table and on the mantle.

Pat Kyle was chairman of the reception, with Frances Buttler as her assistant. Committee heads were Barbara Perkins, head of decorations; Elaine Lewis, refreshments; Maizie Tressler, invitations; and Gene Kellogg and Nancy Grube, co-chairmen of entertainment.

Active Judicial Chairman Holds Two Scholarships

By NANCY J. GRUBE

"May I please have permission to date out of social hours?" "Can't I possibly see him on Monday?"—Such are the questions that Frances Gibson Pendleton, chairman of Judicial Committee, must answer nearly every day.

Born in Lynchburg, Virginia, Fran later lived in Covington, Kentucky, for seven years, and now she says she is from Tappahannock, Virginia.

In the fall of 1940, Fran entered William and Mary and soon made a host of friends. She lost no time in entering the various activities. Fran was elected treasurer of the French Club and was made a member of the Executive Council of the Canterbury Club on which she remained for four years. She has been a member of the Clayton Grimes Biology Club, the German Club, and the Y.W.C.A. while in college. During her first year she was initiated into Kappa Delta Sorority of which she is now vice-president. As a sophomore, Fran was elected Representative-at-Large to the Judicial Council.

Fran's junior year was a colorful one for her. She became vice-president of both the French Club and the Canterbury Club. Toward the end of the year she was tapped for Mortarboard of which she is Historian. Soon after this she was elected Chairman of the Judicial Committee.

Now, as a senior, Fran is a member of the General Co-operative Committee, the Student Senate, and the Assembly.

With all her activities, though, Fran spends her afternoons serving as secretary to Dr. Morton.

This past summer, Fran attended the summer session here, which will enable her to graduate in February, at the age of 19. Her one regret is that graduation is coming all too soon. In summer school, she was president of Women's Student Government.

Fran has a very natural way about her and can always make girls feel at home in her room in Jefferson. Her pet interest is music, and she enjoys listening to and collecting records of all kinds.

Although she is a history major, Fran is going to finish the business course she has already started. After graduation, she will enter the Washington School for Secretaries in Washington, D. C. Upon completing this course, Fran hopes to go into some field in which she can use both of these subjects, perhaps some branch of historical research.

For four years, Fran has held the Colonial Dames Scholarship which is granted through competition to the girl coming from a line of colonial ancestry and going to a colonial college. This year, Fran also has been awarded the John Stewart Bryan Scholarship in history.

The Trading Post

By BOBBIE STEELY

From the First Lux of Alfred U. this headline caught my eye:

"NEW FACES FOUND ON FACULTY"

Cosmetics or plastic surgery?

From the Prop News-Reel of St. Jo College Institute this little flare of poetry seemed to fit to a "T":

"The students get the paper,
The school gets the fame,
The printer gets the money,
The staff gets the blame."
Gross! Gross!

From the Tally Ho of Villanova:
"Ashes to ashes,
Dust to dust,
If it weren't for the paint,
The co-eds would rust."

We know some co-eds that are getting pretty rusty, paint and all!

From the Madison College "Breeze" we present:

"Cosmetics—peach preserves."

Just more hybred emerging from the soil.

If you can't bear to tear yourself away from this lovely column, just remember there'll be more next week.

Tribunal Meeting Again; Freshies' Doom Nearing

Banks, Freer, Wood Chaplains Conduct Mock Court Trial

Class 19 of the Naval Training School for Chaplains held a mock summary court-martial on the evening of October 12, in Marshall-Wythe Hall.

Specialist Lane was on trial charged with insubordination, unauthorized possession of spirituous liquors, and theft from the medical officer of the school. Chaplain Jacobson, dressed as "Ruby Pearl Licorice", was the star of the show, and caused great amusement with "her" blackface antics and remarks. In her bright print gown, heavy necklaces, earrings and other paraphernalia, Miss Licorice caused great wonderment on campus—some thought she was the new cleaning woman in Marshall-Wythe, others were of the opinion that "she" was a new member of the faculty. The trial ended when Lane was found not guilty on all three charges.

Senior member of the court was Chaplain Wilson Bennett, Recorder was Chaplain David Sheetz; Defense Counsel, Chaplain Robert Keating, and Master-at-arms, Chaplain Thomas MacMahon.

Chaplains Robinson, Williams, and Stultz of the Faculty were present to observe the procedure.

During their sojourn at William and Mary, each class must present a mock trial to school Chaplains in the proper Navy Court-Martial manner.

With the all too vivid memory of their first experiences with the Tribunal still in mind, the class of '47 will soon again face the wrath of the Sophomores, according to Clerk of Court Sammy Banks. This next encounter with the Mighty Hand of the Law will occur on October 29.

Little evidence was given of the fate awaiting those unfortunates who incur the displeasure of their superiors in this period. No doubt is left, however, that the fertile minds of the judges will be able to devise new and infinitely more fiendish punishments for the wrongdoers. Though Lord "Bottletop" has received his annual bath, there will be no shortage of equally tedious tasks, which the court will mete out with absolute impartiality.

Court officials are to be the same as those who passed judgment in the previous Tribunal. Chief Justice Jan Freer will wield

Cooperative Com. Holds First Meeting

Meeting Thursday, October 14, for the first time this year, the General Cooperative Committee attempted to find remedies for the campus problems which have developed since the opening of the fall term. In order to clarify the procedure by which newly-formed groups may obtain recognition on the campus, it was suggested that the Editor of the FLAT HAT print Article VII from the Student Assembly By-Laws and any statement of policy which President Pomfret might make concerning the formation of men's local social clubs.

The motion was made that a menu of the day's meals be posted outside the Dining Hall, and Marjorie Retzke suggested that the cafeteria administration be asked to check the number of persons eating on the first shift of the noon meal.

The question was raised as to whether or not students are required to eat in the Dining Hall. Administration representative Marguerite Wynne-Roberts referred the committee to pages 52 and 53 of the current College Catalogue. According to statements there, all freshmen students and sophomore, junior and senior women are required to eat in the Dining Hall. Work-Study Plan students, whose schedules do not permit them to eat at the regular meal hours, are excused.

The committee decided to have a loose-leaf notebook containing the names of faculty and alumni now serving in the armed forces to be placed in the Library and kept there at all times.

Wam Contest Won By Jeanne Lamb

Final entries in the WAM song contest were chosen Wednesday, October 13, in Washington 200 by a majority of WAM volunteers. Choice narrowed down to songs by Lucile Burbank, Ronald King, and Jeanne Lamb. The winner, Jeanne Lamb, received $2.00 in war stamps for the following song:

We pledge five hours—
Every month five hours—
We pledge five hours
To help our Uncle Sam.

We've got spare time each day,
It's no time to play
And we're proud to say we're in the WAMS! Hey! hey!

Another news item from the Fine Arts Department concerns the increase in the collection of recorded music at the College Library. Friends of William and Mary have made a gift of twenty new albums and two of these have been added to the Hill collection. The library hopes to have between 1500 and 2000 records available to the students in the near future.

FRESHMEN VS. PLEBES

Rain, hail, and a hurricane wind, combined with a squad of 90 big bruising plebes were too much for the Papooses to cope with in one afternoon. Eight deep in every position and playing 77 men, the Plebes used their size and weight to advantage to overpower the Freshmen.

The Indians donated the first Navy touchdown by failing to cover a punt properly. Eisenman went straight down the middle for 65 yards and the score. William and Mary's line stopped the powerful Middle backs cold time after time, forcing them to kick, until Cobean's passes caught the Papoose secondary off guard for two quick touchdowns, the first on a 51 yard pass, and the second on a 40 yard toss to Rainie. Navy's only earned touchdown came in the third period on a sustained drive and an 8-yard pass.

Before the game Coach McCray told the Papooses that this game would "separate the men from the boys" on the field. Every William and Mary player that entered the game realized that he was up against an opponent 30 pounds heavier than he was. But you would never know it, because those Indians played hard bruising football. Those players were men, every one of them, as they spilled Navy's intricate attack repeatedly for losses.

Benny Raimondi, the human bombsight, played a fine game as he ran the Middle ends ragged for gains, and completed passes to Galbreath. The gale, however, hampered Benny's passing and kicking no end. It was so strong that when McIlwain kicked out from the 10-yard line, his punt was caught by the wind and blown back behind the goal line, giving Navy an automatic safety. On another occasion Hanson's kickoff traveled 90 yards in the air as the wind carried it over the goal posts into the street.

Other Indian stars were numerous. Captain Warren Galbreath caught passes from Raimondi and continually broke through to spill Navy backs for losses. On defense, Bill Sydnor intercepted two passes and backed up the line viciously. Art Foussikis and Tom Mikula spent most of the afternoon in the Plebe backfield, making themselves a general nuisance to the Navy. Bill Jolley tackled well.

McCray expressed deep satisfaction in the way his team played. The squad was out-manned and out-manuevered but not out-played. In fact, it was remarkable that the Indians did so well. Until the team reached Annapolis, no one knew whether the game was scheduled with the Junior Varsity, the Plebes, or what.

This week it's a double-header—Apprentice School at Newport News Friday night, and Randolph-Macon here Saturday afternoon. Give the team a break and come out and cheer.

Wolves Lead By Half Game In Intramural Volley Ball

The College Wolves, rolling along toward the intramural volleyball championship, received a sharp set-back on Thursday night when they dropped their first contest of the season to the Yanks. The loss tightened up the pennant race, although the Wolves still hold a one-half game lead.

Monday, the fourth, the Yanks and Commandos clashed, with the Commandos rallying to take the set: 15-7, 15-13.

On Tuesday the Indians gave Captain Kitman's Wolves their first win when the Indians had to forfeit.

Wednesday the Goldbricks rallied to whip the Rebels, 15-9 and 16-14, as tall, lean Hansen set the pace.

Out for revenge, the Rebels came back on Thursday night to roll over the Commandos 15-12, 17-15; and Friday closed a week of play as the Wolves continued their winning streak by routing the Goldbricks in two straight

A.S.T.U. Teams Boast Former Gridiron Stars

By PVT. LEO STALNAKER, JR.

Players on the A.S.T.U.'s Commandos and Stuka Divers football teams hail from far and wide, and most of the soldier athletes became well acquainted with the pigskin in high schools and colleges before donning khaki.

It's not a group of football "rookies" that file out on William and Mary's football green five afternoons a week for practice on their own time, but former high school and college letter-men who play for the love of the game.

Pvt. Kalawarski, Company A's husky captain from Sharon, Pennsylvania, has two years of college and high school football experience. Tipping the scales at nearly 225 pounds and standing six feet, two inches tall, Kalawarski held down a tackle position for two years at Ohio State University.

With a five-year association with the pigskin behind him, Pvt. Bill Allison, St. Petersburg, Fla., heads Company B's Stuka Diver team. Allison, who weighs 170 pounds, plays right guard for the Brown Hall team, and had a similar post on Cornell's "Big Red" squad for two years.

Joe Och, Company A's 186-pound end, was a member of Pittsburgh Central Catholic High School's eleven for three years. Och has also played professional baseball and, prior to induction, was under contract to the New York Yankees.

The Stuka Divers' 210-pound tackle, William Tyler, Cape May Court House, N. J., won letters in football, basketball and baseball at The Peddie School, Height's Town, N. J. The tall tackle participated in all three sports for four years and played one season of professional baseball with the Atlantic City Blues.

Monogram Girls Help Entertain

The Girl's Monogram Club will again this year sponsor the open house for service men at the Methodist Church. Entertainment has been planned by Miss Eunice Hall of Matthew Whaley High School and Miss Martha Barksdale for each Saturday and Sunday night from 7 to 10 P. M.

Miss Alma Wilkens, head of the Home Economics Department, is chairman of the refreshment committee. Recreation offered consists of square dancing, checkers, bridge, ping pong, and shuffle board.

The Methodist Church playroom was the first in Williamsburg designed for the use of servicemen, having been started by Rev. and Mrs. Havermale long before the U.S.O. was organized here.

Gale Stops Indians As Raimondi's Passes Fail

Hard Schedule Faces Coaches

Present conditions find the Physical Education Department hard-pressed, with almost twice as much work as there was in peacetime. This semester the coaching staff is instructing a total of 730 men which includes 500 A.S.T.U.'s and 230 civilians. The total number of coaching hours is 3,690 each week as compared with 1,950 hours last year. This creates an overload for each coach for there are the same number of instructors on the staff.

Not only are the classes more numerous, but the routine of teaching is quite different. The civilian students are now being given the same program, though not as strenuous as one as the army. This means a revision of all former methods used in conditioning civilian students. The present standards are equal to those set down by the government. The use of the obstacle course is one of the major points in the present physical education program.

W-M, A.S.T.U. Play Air Base Nov. 20

The William and Mary Athletic Association announced last week that it had added a game with the Richmond Army Air Base to the Tribe's seven-game schedule. The freshmen squad will combine with the teams of the A.S.T.U.; and together, they will face the big "Thunderbird" eleven. The game will be played on November 20 at Cary Field, and becomes the fifth game on the William and Mary card.

The Air Base has a record that we cannot call spectacular; but, nevertheless, after being walloped by a far more advanced Richmond University team, they did an about face, tying Virginia's favored Cavaliers 7-7, and beating two service teams—the Norfolk Naval Base, 6-0; and Fort Monroe, 12-0. The flyers from Richmond will have an edge in weight with a line that comes close to averaging two hundred pounds; but since they have little time for practice, they are handicapped. All factors taken into consideration, it looks as though a good football game will be played at Cary Field on November 20.

Frosh Meet R.-M., Apprentice School

Two outstanding games are scheduled for Coach McCray's cohorts this week. The first is with Apprentice School varsity Friday night at Newport News, and the second is here at Cary Field Saturday afternoon with Randolph-Macon's flashy eleven.

Injuries received in the Navy contest were slight, and the Tribe will be at full strength for both contests.

For sixty bitter minutes, in a cold driving rain and strong wind, a valiant band of W. & M. football players battled a mighty Navy plebe squad, only to lose by giving up three unearned touchdowns.

Though beaten decisively, the Indians were not disgraced. Before the day ended, the plebes had thrown seven complete teams into the fray, including the nine men who had played varsity football for such schools as V.P.I., V.M.I., and Bucknell. The Tribe was never outfought, seldom outplayed; they were simply outmanned. Ben Raimondi was the standout in the W. & M. backfield, while on the line, Tom Mikula, Warren Galbreath, and Bill Sydnor played a splendid game.

The first quarter was hardly two minutes old, when Eisenman of the Navy took a punt from Bolling Chappell, and raced 65 yards through a broken field for a touchdown. Carroll converted. The remainder of the quarter was marked by a kicking duel, and the period ended with the Navy in possession of the ball on their own 20-yard line.

The Middies were forced to kick, and on the wings of Ben Raimondi's passes, the Indians drove deep into Navy territory. However, a pass was intercepted, and the plebes took over on their 40-yard line. From this point they connected on a pass play that traveled 51 yards down the field for a touchdown. Bill Sydnor broke through to block the extra point attempt. Navy kicked into the W. & M. end-zone, and then broke through to block Bolling Chappell's kick on the 15-yard line. The threat of a score was averted temporarily, when Bill Sydnor intercepted another pass on the 8-yard line. On the next play Preston McIlwain's boot from the end-zone was blown back across the goal line, and this trick of the fates gave Navy a safety and two more points. Navy then took Ben Raimondi's free kick on the W. & M. 40-yard line, where another long pass was completed for a touchdown. The sailors con-

Did You Know

- That William and Mary has played and beaten the University of Richmond four times in the past four years?
- That in the past ten years William and Mary has won 45 games, lost 40, and tied 7?
- That William and Mary had its best teams in 1941, (8-2-0) and 1942 (9-1-1)?
- That during World War I William and Mary did not have to disband varsity football? Compare this with World War II.
- That since Coach Carl Voyles took the reins at W. & M., the Indians have not lost a Homecoming contest, although on several occasions going into the fray a decided underdog?

For Women Only

By EDYTHE MARSH

Thursday evening the Women's Athletic Council held its first meeting of the season. Miss Marion Reeder was appointed new faculty member to this committee. The council, made up of Miss Barksdale, Miss Reeder, Miss Wynne-Roberts, Mary Wilson Carver, Sue Lamb, and Janet Ginsberg, discussed this year's athletic program and made plans for hockey intramurals.

It was decided to have individual class teams, dormitory teams, and sorority teams in intramural hockey. The dormitories will make up as many teams as possible; Chandler and Barrett Halls will probably have two or three teams, each with an individual captain.

Also it was decided that at the end of the season recognition for the winning teams this year will be on the percentage basis; that is, the highest recognition will be given to that dormitory or sorority house having the greatest percentage of girls participating.

The Dance Club, at present composed of both last year's A and B groups, has had two meetings. Although there are only 15 girls in the club, it has been announced that try-outs for new members will be held soon. Under the direction of Miss Arlene Jackman, the Dance Club will hold its meetings every Thursday afternoon from 4:15-4:30.

The Monogram Club announces that it needs girls to entertain service men in the Recreation Room at the Methodist Church. Any girls interested in helping out, on Saturday and Sunday nights may sign up on the bulletin board in Jefferson gym now.

Tennis Intramurals are under way; the first games were played on Monday. Tomorrow's schedule is as follows:

- 3:35 P. M.:
Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Kappa Delta
Phi Mu vs. Chi Omega
Gamma Phi Beta vs. Delta Delta
Kappa Alpha Theta vs. Pi Beta Phi
Barrett vs. Jefferson.
4:35 P. M.:
Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Chi Omega
Kappa Delta vs. Delta Delta
Phi Mu vs. Pi Beta Phi
Gamma Phi Beta vs. Alpha Chi Omega
Barrett vs. Chandler.

Before entering the service, he attended the University of Chicago.

Another Commando big gun is Bob Holland from Charlottesville, Va. The 176-pound player was a member of the squad at Fork Union Military Academy and Hampden-Sydney College.

Thomas Wagner, Company B guard, played ball for Fort Hill High School, Cumberland, Md., for three years. Wagner, who held letters there in several sports, also played semi-professional softball.

Also figuring in Company A's plays is 160-pound Sherwin Bardsley, Lionminster, Mass. Bardsley was a member of the University of Maine's squad for two years.

Navy clicked for another touchdown pass late in the third quarter, and the game ended with the Middies handing the Indians their first defeat of the season, 28 - 0.

McIlwain, frosh fullback, missed a train and consequently handicapped the Indians as their plunging attack fizzled.

Wolves Lead

Two games scheduled for Wednesday had to be postponed because of military affairs.

In the triple-header scheduled for Thursday, the Goldbricks overwhelmed the Wigwams 15-5 and 15-4 with Hansen starring again. The second set was forfeited to the Wolves by the Commandos, when their men failed to appear. The third set, by far the best contested, was won from the Wolves by the Yankees. The Wolves took the first game 15-11, but were completely outplayed in the second game as the Yankees walked away 15-3. The third game showed much action and spectacular plays on both sides. However, the Wolves weakened and the Yanks won 15-11. Friday the Commandos trampled the Wigwams 15-2 and 15-4 in one of the most one-sided contests of the series.

Averages now show that the Wolves are in first place by one game; the Yankees and Goldbricks are battling it out for second place, while the last place Indians are the only team which has failed to register a win.

Aukamps Camp ASTU Review In Honor Of College Student Body

Mama and Papa Aukamp have seized Wren Kitchen for the next two weeks. They are the principal characters in "Papa is All", the opening play of the William and Mary Theatre, to be held Wednesday and Thursday evenings, October 27 and 28, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Rehearsals, under the direction of Miss Hunt and Mr. Boyt, are now under way in Wren and on the Phi Beta Kappa stage.

The story concerns tyrannical "Papa", who reigns supreme in the lives of his family, Mama, Jake, and Emma. Mrs. Yoder, the Aukamps' gossip neighbor, contributes much humor.

John Manos (Papa) took the part of Napoleon in Shaw's "Man of Destiny", and Emilian, the Poet in the Russian farce, "Squaring the Circle." Anna Belle Koenig (Mama) played Eve in Shaw's "Back to Methuselah" and Tonya in "Squaring the Circle." Betty Driscoll (Mrs. Yoder) and Norma Ritter (Emma Aukamp) both played Ludmilla in "Squaring the Circle." Levi Marlow (Jake Aukamp) enacted a juvenile role last summer in "The Fighting Littles."

Season tickets have been on sale for the past week, under the direction of Joan Worstell, campaign manager, and will be available through opening night, October 15.

In the scene shop classes in stagecraft and design under Mr. Boyt are turning out the single set of the play, a realistic Dutch kitchen.

Officers Of Week Take Over Parade

The A.S.T.U. has held parades in honor of the Mayor of Williamsburg, the President of the College of William and Mary, visiting Naval Officers, but on Wednesday, October 20, they will be reviewed by a much larger group of honored guests, the students of William and Mary. The parade will be held on the parade ground at 6:45, and will be under the direction of Lieutenant George Kryc. Lieutenant Kryc is an Infantry officer and, as the new Plans and Training Officer, will have charge of all parades in the future.

The parade will be exclusively by the Cadet officers of the week, with Cadet Major Benjamin Fuchs and Cadet Adjutant Albert Bernsweig of Company A in charge. In the future all parades will be under the command of the Cadet Officers and the Cadet Major and Adjutant will alternate between Companies A and B each week.

1st Wave Arrives To Relieve Officer

The Chaplain's School now has an added attraction—a WAVE in the person of Ensign M. Elizabeth Russell. She says, "I've come here as Supply and Disbursing officer. I am relieving a man for sea duty, Lt. W. C. Bauknight."

Ensign Russell, Cornell '40 and a Tri-Delt, joined the Training and Supply Corps of the WAVE on December 22, 1942. She was sent as an apprentice seaman to Northampton for 23 days for indoctrination and on January 15, received a commission as ensign. Next, Ensign Russell spent 10 weeks at the Radcliff branch of the Navy Supply Corps School of Harvard. Her first tour of duty was at Roosevelt Base, Terminal Island, San Pedro, California, from which she was assigned permanently to William and Mary College.

There are only five hundred WAVES in the Supply Corps and Ensign Russell was in the first class of commissioned officers to graduate.

Sly Organizes Mixed Chorus

Mr. Allan B. Sly has organized the new William and Mary Chorus, which consists of both students and A.S.T.U. boys. The Chorus rehearses every Tuesday and Friday evening from 6:45 to 7:45 in Washington 200.

The purpose of organizing this group, according to Mr. Sly, is to develop a large chorus of both male and female voices. All members of the Chapel Choir automatically become members. Membership, however, is still open to all students and Army cadets.

Club Notes

The French Club will hold its first meeting on Thursday night, October 21. Dr. Macy will speak on his experiences in Underground France. Some campus talent will entertain and refreshments will be served.

The Women's Debate Council will hold second try-outs at the Club's next meeting, Wednesday, October 27, in Philomathean Hall at 5 o'clock. The Council asks all aspirants to prepare a five-minute speech on any topic to be given at the meeting.

Me and My Bunx

MONDAY — Yes, the Happy Bunk is the most luxuriously delightful why-should-I-worry person I know. Every night she, in a fabulous manner, winds her undignified hair with profound indifference on a large Tin. The result is solemn. From a helpless-looking strand, her hair emerges looking twice as perplexed as before with the removal of the Iron Rod. However, she does it with such dexterity and ease that I am going to try following her wonderful advice and bully the life out of my own resources.

TUESDAY — There's a bright-eyed Youngster in the Other Bunx's life. I don't like to divulge in personalities, but "Our James" is a man among men and an immortal sterling character of any occasion. He brings the camping air and the vitality of better things to come with each visit. Today he arrived singing soberly—for he is a serious lad, conscious of his responsibility in amusing the Bunx—"Whoopsie Doodle I'm off My noodle, ain't nobody gonna tell me what to do."

WEDNESDAY — Why is it that I must be continually surprised, or perhaps it shouldn't surprise me at all, I mean certain perplexing

Student Questions Rank; Is He Cadet Or Private?

Soldiers Make Social Debut Sat. Night At First Military Ball Of World War II

By PVT. HERMAN J. OBERMAYER

On Saturday night, the men of the Army Specialized Training Unit made their social debut, and proved to Williamsburg that there was some justification for the old maxim about "a soldier and a gentleman." During the evening, men introduced their friends to their dates as "Cadet Jones" and "Cadet Smith"; but they had no idea why they used the title "Cadet", or if it has any real meaning in the A.S.T.P.

The deb of the evening "came out" in good style at William and Mary's first Military Ball of World War II, complete with the blare of bugles, the ruffle of drums, the snappy salutes of soldiers, and the "demure" smiles of coeds.

As the girls were preparing for the dance and talking to their housemother, she warned them to "be careful, girls, and don't let those soldiers lead you astray", but added as an afterthought, "have full confidence in the cadets, they're different". The girls suppressed giggles, put a final touch of powder on their noses, and hopefully awaited their dates.

Girls think of the terms "Military Ball" and "Cadets" together, but they almost always associate them with "dragging" at West Point or V.M.I. This is one of the first times that these terms have been associated with a dance given by a selected group of Enlisted Men in the Army, where efficient M.P.'s turned away Naval Officers and Air Cadets. A "Cadet" is a distinct piece. One, I believe, was she. As she mentioned dragging All the long road home, "There's just nothing like an Experience."

FRIDAY — It's a Grimm fable this English Literature. The Happy Bunk at least thinks so. It took several non-stop talking records to keep her from losing her mind. You see, it weighs on her so proportionately great — this question. Did the Green Knight, or did he not?

SATURDAY — NOW LET'S GET ORGANIZED, BUNX.

SUNDAY — DISORGANIZED, AND WE LOVE IT.

Something To Think About

Have you read the newspaper today? (Not the FLAT HAT, for a change.) Have you listened to any news broadcasts today? Do you know what is happening on the battle fronts, on the home fronts, in Congress? If you answer honestly, you will probably say, "no." The average William and Mary student does have only a smattering of knowledge of current events, and why? "But I don't have the time," you say. Others admit an indifference to the issue. All in all, we seem to be enveloped in our own petty campus squabbles without much thought of keeping up with the actual progress of the war, Congressional legislation, etc. History is in the making. Let's read it now instead of waiting till the war is over and then suddenly finding out with a shock what has happened while we were oblivious. It's something to think about. * * *

The Echo Weekly of the State Teachers College in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, undertook a campaign to send the Echo to its fighting men. Contributions were received from sororities, fraternities, school organizations, and faculty members. Today they are sending the paper to 150 boys throughout the country.

Undoubtedly the William and Mary students in the service are wondering why they don't receive copies of the FLAT HAT. The explanation is this: we are unable to afford the expense of printing and mailing the extra copies. But why shouldn't some sort of program like that of the Echo Weekly work here? This might be a project that the War Council could sponsor. But any campus group could undertake to make this their project. The school has a responsibility to its men in the service. We, the students, could help them to realize that they are really still an integral part of William and Mary. It's something else to think about.

Explanations

A week has gone by since we last spoke of the need for a better spirit of cooperation between the Army and civilian students. During this past week, there have been questions which, if left unanswered, could cause hard feelings.

Several civilian students have wondered, not to themselves, but openly, why they were excluded from the Army Military Ball when they had thought they were to attend as guests. According to the A.S.T.U. authorities, funds for the Military Ball were drawn from the Unit Fund, which has as its primary source of revenue the coca-cola machine in Blow Gym. Army Regulations state that this fund must be used for the exclusive benefit of the men in the Unit; hence the exclusion from the dance of all other men. Had this explanation been made sooner, some tension could no doubt have been avoided. Now that news from and about the A.S.T.U. is being turned in to the FLAT HAT by members of the Unit, there should be no reason why the accurate facts should not be available on such stories.

should like to call to your attention. It is the fact that unfortunate omissions and occasional errors are not intended as caustic innuendos directed against anybody. What a reader sees in a publication is strongly colored by the attitude with which he reads the material. The FLAT HAT does not claim to be perfect; but the staff does lay claim to attempting to print the news in as interesting a manner as possible. He who goes out of his way to find the place where someone said something which proves that the FLAT HAT is trying to take a covert poke at him might just as well change his attitude. If we find out about something of which we don't approve, we will say so. It is your privilege—and we mean it is everyone's privilege—to write a letter to the Editor if you don't approve of something. It may be your privilege to read into an article intentions that were not in the mind of the author, but it would be a good idea to think twice before you do.

We are trying to be fair. Are

There is something else we you?

Letter to Editor

The Editor:

It was with great interest that we read the October 12th issue of the FLAT HAT. Our enthusiasm was suddenly swept aside upon reaching the sports section. The expression "Frosh Down Army Team" was received with anything but enthusiasm.

The statement was misleading. Eighteen of the Army players were instructed to dress for the game. These men represented the most inapt of the Army players. The Army has 47 men out for football.

Understand, however, we are not unappreciative of fact. We realize that the Army's third string was given a thorough trouncing.

Columnist Criticizes Student Government

By JERRY HYMAN

Student government is on the way after a delay of three weeks. The slow-moving committees that are the backbone of student government are now swinging into action.

The General Cooperative Committee held its first meeting of the year last Thursday, and although nothing definite was accomplished except the election of Dr. Harrison as vice-chairman, it did lay the groundwork for future action.

The Assembly, held back by lack of a quorum, will be able to meet within the next few weeks, as an election date has been set for the near future. According to the Student Government constitution, election of Senate members must precede election of Assembly members by at least two weeks. But for some undisclosed reason the Committee in charge of elections has seen fit to violate this constitutional provision by calling the election for Assembly members before the election for Senate members. We know no reason why the order of election has been inverted in direct contradiction to the Student Government Constitution. Perhaps there is some explanation. Perhaps not.

Many students of the College in past years have lost all interest in student government because of the maze of contradictions which continually occur. The result is a lackadaisical attitude on the part of the students, non-participation in student elections, and disregard of issues which should be on the minds of every student. The inevitable result has been the election of representatives, class officers, and even student body presidents on the basis of popularity. The percentage of students voting in elections is amazingly small, and those who do vote do so under the impression that they are electing the "most popular," "best dancer," or "Miss William and Mary." No wonder the quality of the governing bodies has been so low in the past.

These "elite" of the student body have so far been miserable failures. They either know not or care not what they do. The right hands know not the action of their left hands.

Today a situation presents itself in which these faults can be remedied. For the first time in almost a decade, the student body can make a choice of representatives without being confused by the claims and counter-claims of the old political parties. The students have an opportunity to elect a true non-partisan body, one which will owe no debts of gratitude, which will not have to determine each question according to the attitude of the powers that be. We can only hope that all students who are interested in self-government will participate in the coming elections and vote for those men and women who are best qualified.

There are those on campus who would do away with student government except as an empty shell; they would introduce faculty censorship of the publications, they would vest all the powers of the Assembly in the Administration of the College, they would make a mockery of the things that we have fought for in the past. They argue that the processes of student government are slow and ineffective. Therefore they would substitute government by decree. They argue that the students are not mature enough to know their own best interest; therefore they would take away the one chance they have of learning self-government. The Assembly is slow and inefficient; therefore they would turn its functions over to a less democratic and more authoritative body. They argue that democracy on the campus is not important; therefore they would run the school as a totalitarian state.

We hold no brief for this argument. Although we have criticized the Assembly it is our aim to improve it, not to destroy it. For this is true democracy when free men speak freely, and we hold there is no body or power which is above criticism. Only by keeping a close check on the acts of student government can we make it the kind of student government it should be, and justify keeping it in the hands of the students.

In his message to the freshman class this year, President Pomfret said, "The freshman class is called upon . . . to assist willingly in keeping alive such valuable cognate activities as Student Government . . ." How much more important is it then for all of us, freshmen and upperclassmen to keep alive the spirit of student government as well as the external forms and thus to keep student affairs in the hands of students where they belong? We do not believe that anyone could wish differently.

In addition to the public meeting, a special private gathering is to be held Tuesday to take care of the extremely uncooperative Freshmen. Clerk Banks refused to disclose the names of these students who have not yet got into the spirit of things. "They, and the other students, will know in due time," he said with an evil little grin. In the meantime, he advised other freshmen to watch their steps. "It is later than you think!"

Last Minute

with the photographer; wartime difficulties prevent the schedule from being lengthened. Anyone failing to keep his appointment will be unable to have his picture appear in the '43-'44 publication.

There will be a Communion Service for Lutheran students, both civilian and military, and Chaplains, in Wren Chapel Thursday night, October 21, at 7:30. A social gathering will follow in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Here are some quotes from the Daily Athenaeum:

"Having been told that the Army was going to take over their house, the K.A.'s started en masse to search for rooms. Seven decided that they wanted the same room, which was barely large enough for two. Fifty-two references were called in to decide who should get the room, after which those least skilled in poker resumed their search."

Here's another:
"Where'd ya get the black eye, Corporal?"

"In the war."

"What war?"

"The boudoir."
